

North Carolina Tropical Storm Helene Recovery

Oct. 6, 2024

Key Messages

If you applied for federal assistance after Tropical Storm Helene, you will receive an eligibility letter from FEMA in the mail or by email. The letter will explain your application status and how to respond. It is important to read the letter carefully because it will include the amount of any assistance FEMA may provide and information on the appropriate use of disaster assistance funds.

If you have questions about your letter, or disagree with the initial decision, call FEMA at 800-621-3362 to find out what information FEMA needs.

How to Apply for FEMA Assistance

FEMA Help for All Who Need It

FEMA provides help to all disaster survivors, regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, religion, age, disability, English proficiency or economic status. Our top priority is ensuring that disaster assistance is reaching people in need.

FEMA is working closely with our whole community partners to get help where it is needed most. FEMA has already paid out more than $29 million in housing and other types of assistance to over 27,000 North Carolina households. With more than 700 staff on the ground in North Carolina, and more arriving daily, we are reaching more people and helping them recover faster.

Be Alert for Fraud After Tropical Storm Helene in North Carolina

North Carolinians should be aware that con artists and criminals may try to obtain money or steal personal information through fraud or identity theft after Tropical Storm Helene. Note that all FEMA employees wear official photo identification badges, and that they will never charge applicants for disaster assistance. If you believe you are the victim of a scam, report it immediately to your local police or sheriff's department or contact the Office of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or FEMA's Hotline.

Assistance to Meet Your Unique Needs

Everyone's journey to recovery is different, so FEMA is here to help with your unique situation. FEMA offers Serious Needs Assistance, which is an upfront, flexible payment of $750 to help pay for essential items like food, water, baby formula, breastfeeding supplies, medication and other emergency supplies. There are other forms of assistance that you may qualify to receive once you apply for disaster assistance. You only need to apply with FEMA once.

North Carolinians May Be Eligible for Transitional Sheltering in Hotels

Hotel or motel stays paid for by FEMA may be available for North Carolinians displaced by Tropical Storm Helene in 25 counties and for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. People do not need to request this assistance. FEMA will notify them of their eligibility through an automated phone call, text message, and/or email, depending upon the method of communication they selected at the time of application for disaster assistance.

What Kind of Help Can FEMA Provide?

FEMA assistance does not replace insurance and cannot restore your home to its pre-disaster condition. But FEMA may be able to provide help for uninsured or underinsured costs. File your insurance claim, then apply to FEMA. FEMA's disaster assistance offers new benefits that provide flexible funding directly to survivors. In addition, a simplified process and expanded eligibility allows North Carolinians access to a wider range of assistance and funds for serious needs.

Damaged Wells and Septic Systems

For private wells and septic systems, FEMA may reimburse you for the cost of a professional, licensed technician to visit your home and prepare an estimate detailing the necessary repairs or replacement of your disaster-damaged systems. FEMA may also pay for the actual repair or replacement cost of your septic system or well, which typically are not covered by homeowner's insurance. At the time of your home inspection, let the FEMA inspector know you have a private well and/or septic system that may have been damaged by the hurricane.

FEMA Specialists in North Carolina Communities After Tropical Storm Helene

FEMA Disaster Survivor Assistance crews are in affected North Carolina neighborhoods helping people apply for federal assistance after Tropical Storm Helene. Disaster Survivor Assistance teams wear FEMA attire and have federal photo identification badges. Disaster Survivor Assistance crews never ask for, or accept, money.

Be Safe When Cleaning Up

Follow the direction of local authorities as you clean up. Be aware of safety concerns and separate debris for collection as instructed by local officials. Before cleaning up, make sure to document any property damage with photos and receipts. Use generators only outdoors and at least 20 feet from windows, doors, and attached garages. Make sure to keep the generator dry and protected from rain or flooding.

Low-Interest Disaster Loans

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) offers low-interest disaster loans for homeowners, renters, businesses and nonprofit organizations to cover losses not fully compensated by insurance and other sources. Apply online at SBA.gov/disaster. Disaster loan information and application forms can also be obtained by calling the SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955.

Donations and Volunteering

Monetary donations are needed most. Please give to the North Carolina Disaster Relief Fund to help communities recover from Helene. Please refrain from sending physical donations or volunteers to western NC. If you or someone you know would like to volunteer, connect with an accredited organization.

Other ways to donate or volunteer:

- Volunteer NC Disaster Volunteer Opportunities
- Feeding Assistance
- Donate to a VOAD
- NC 2-1-1 Volunteer List

Do not self-deploy to western North Carolina. Help us keep critical supply lines open.
